Pennsylvania politics and the weather are nearly a match.

Thunder, lightning, wind and rain seem to be the same old weather programme.

The country will wish that when the President is appealed to by the friends of the assassin for a reprieve he will a little of Andrew Jackson's backbone.

A man named Bayson has bought 25,000 acres of land in Iowa, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, who will use it for colonizing Scandinavian immigrants.

Here is another sad commentary on our civilization: At a recent sale of coins in New York, a medal which commemorated the battle of Banker Hill brought only 30 cents; while one commemorative of John C. Heenan's pugilistic encounters, brought 42 cents. And still we send missionaries to "heathen" countries.

The prospect is brightening that Hon. O. B. Thomas, of Prairie du Chien, will be nominated for Congress. The Seventh district could not do better than nominate and elect Mr. Thomas. There is as much solid integrity in that man, and withal perfect fitness for the office, as will be found in any man in that district.

Ex-Governor John M. Palmer, of Illinois, thinks that General Rosecrans has the presidential bee buzzing in his ear, and for that reason is industriously writing letters about his military achievements. Although General Palmer is a Democrat, he seems to have opened his eyes to the realities of the situation, and he says: "I dare the Democratic party of this country to nominate such a man. We want no graveyard ghoul to head the Democratic ticket in 1884."

One of the vilest sinners has been converted—Governor Luke Blackburn, of Kentucky. He has experienced a change of heart through the preaching of the mountain evangelist, George O. Barnes, at Frankfort. It is said he will unite with the Episcopal Church, at Louisville. Governor Blackburn was notorious during the war by his connection with the heartless scheme to spread contagious diseases in the North. If grace can save him there is yet hope for Tilden.

An important decision has been rendered in the United States Circuit Court by Judge Drummond, in favor of D. C. and H. A. Ruel & Co., of Kalamazoo, Michigan, manufacturers of the original Kalamazoo spring-tooth harrow. The case had been in the courts for two years, and the decision for the plaintiff involves the Harris Manufacturing company here as well as a large number of other manufacturers in other States. By this decision the plaintiff will reap an additional fortune of several hundred thousand dollars.

The latest from Washington regarding the President and Gruteau, is a dispatch which says: "It is hardly probable that the President will interfere with the Gruteau case as asked, though he feels the responsibility of the matter to be very grave indeed. The fact, however, that insanity was the only defense in the trial, and a verdict so soon given, coupled with the additional fact that Gruteau, instead of becoming a mania as predicted, has given no evidence of insanity since, will probably lead the President to a refusal of a respite."

The coming meeting of the Wisconsin Druggists to be held at Oshkosh, August 7-9, promises to be the largest ever held in the Northwest. The committee had engaged the largest hall in that city, but the applications for space for the exhibition of drugs and fancy goods, were so numerous that they were compelled to engage the exposition building, where the meetings will be held, and specimens of drugs and druggists' sundries from all parts of the world will be on exhibition. They will also give a reception and dance in the same buildings on Wednesday night, August 8, and an excursion on the Lake on Thursday. Invitations will be sent to every druggist in the State, and a large attendance is expected.

In 1880 the Legislature enacted a law to prevent the spreading of noxious weeds, which provided that every person and corporation shall destroy upon all lands which he or it shall occupy, all weeds of the kinds known as snap-dragon, Canada thistle and burdock, at such time and in such a manner as shall effectually prevent their bearing seed. Overseers of highways are also compelled to destroy such weeds on their respective highways. The penalty for a violation of this act is as follows: "If the occupant of any such lands, or any such overseer shall fail to so destroy any such weeds as so required, such occupant shall forfeit not less than five nor more than fifty dollars. The chairman and each supervisor of every town shall prosecute promptly for every such forfeiture which he shall have reason to believe to have been incurred."

The Jefferson County Union, published at the home of Mr. Caswell, is in error when it says the Gazette has been too previous in retiring that gentleman from Congress. The Gazette has been exceedingly fair to Mr. Caswell for reason given when Mr. Caswell's letter was published, and it has also been as fair to Mr. Williams. The Gazette has taken no part in that movement to over-ride the wishes of the Republicans of Jefferson county, neither has it been so unrighteous as to attempt to drive Mr. Caswell out of the canvass without a hearing. The Jefferson County Union in connection with its complaints, says: "We do not know that Mr. Caswell cares to be a candidate for Congress in the new district, but we would, as mildly as possible, suggest to our neighbors that Jefferson county Republicans may feel like taking a hand in just to see if he is to be lightly disposed of."

It is becoming quite common for a certain class of adventurous persons to jump from railway trains while in motion, and as all those who have had experience in that business are not good jumpers, many of them have sustained serious injuries. It would be well for everybody to bear in mind, and especially those who sometimes want to save a minute's time or a walk of two or three blocks, to remember that the Supreme Court of this State has rendered a decision in the case of one Jewell against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Company that "a passenger cannot recover damages for injuries received by him in jumping from a train while in motion, even in case the train did not stop at the station for which the passenger held a ticket. If the plaintiff had remained on the car and sued the company for damages in not stopping for him to alight, he might have collected something, but the law does not hold the railroad responsible for broken legs caused by the passengers own act."

Mr. J. B. Grinnell, who is an old resident of Grinnell, Iowa, is making hasty visits to the larger cities in the Northwest, urging prompt action in the matter of raising aid for the tornado sufferers in that State. When in Milwaukee on Friday, and visiting the Board of Trade, he was introduced and said:

I come on a sad mission, by request of the mayor of the city of Grinnell, Iowa, and his excellency Governor Sherman. My few words are of an appalling calamity by a cyclone last Saturday, which like a demon of destruction wasted our State of 20 miles—centered its fury on the city of Grinnell. The city has 3,000 people, 12 buildings were leveled to the earth, 10 persons were wounded, many of whom will die; others are maimed for life, and more than 40 have died. The wreck was total, scattering furniture and clothing to the winds; then destroying the two college buildings, including library, cabinet and all, leaving 350 students without a home. Fifty families are without home, food and clothing. We want 10 car loads of lumber and any aid that can be rendered.

There is no danger that there will be any lack of practical sympathy on the part of the people of Wisconsin or any other Northwestern States for the Iowa sufferers. Already subscriptions are coming in by the tens of thousands of dollars, and provisions and lumber are being shipped to Grinnell and other points by the car load.

The defense in the Malley case, at New Haven, have finished their testimony, and will rest upon the alibi which seems pretty positive that the boys could not have been with Jennie Cramer on the fatal Friday night when she met her death. It has been shown, so far as direct testimony can show, that they were elsewhere on that night, and there is every reason to believe that the jury will acquit them. Notwithstanding the seemingly positive testimony as to the alibi, it is said the State will offer some rebutting testimony that will go to destroy the theory that the boys were not with Jennie Cramer on the night she died. The prosecution holds that the testimony which shows that the boys were elsewhere than with the unfortunate girl on the night of her death, was secured through intimidation and family interests. Those who have carefully noted the testimony, will at once conclude that there was a conspiracy to betray Jennie Cramer, and that her death was the result of this betrayal. There is no doubt that the Malley boys knew all about this and that they know full well how she reached her untimely death. But in what way they planned her death cannot be directly proven, and consequently they will be acquitted. Her blood is upon their garments nevertheless.

A writer on storms and their causes, asserts that it is a common error to suppose that the tornadoes which so frequently visit the West, are identical with the cyclones in more southern latitudes. While the two storms resemble each other in some particulars, they are very radically different in the most important particulars. It is said that the range of the largest tornado is only a fraction of that of the smallest cyclones; and while cyclones appear at all hours tornadoes and whirlwinds are generally confined to the hours between sunrise and sun set, and forty-nine times out of fifty, between the hours of four o'clock in the afternoon and eight o'clock in the evening. Tornadoes, the most violent manifestations of the whirlwind, are known in nearly all climates, but cyclones have their origin in the tropics. "Whirlwinds and tornadoes occur where the air is usually moist or warm for the time, and where temperature and humidity consequently diminished with height at an abnormally rapid rate; but cyclones appear under conditions implying unequal densities of the atmosphere at equal heights, due to inequalities in the geographical distribution of temperature or humidity. In other words whirlwinds and tornadoes owe their origin to a vertical disturbance of the atmosphere equilibrium, while cyclones are due to a horizontal disturbance; the former are short-lived, but the latter rage for days and travel far."

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—At a meeting of the President and cabinet last night it was decided not to interfere with Gruteau's sentence. No reprieve will be given. Only the jail guard and spiritual adviser will now be permitted to see him until he is brought out to the scaffold. John W. Gruteau arrives Monday with new facts. Gruteau sent a message to his spiritual adviser saying, "Go and see Arthur and shake your fist in his face. I made him President and he must give me unconditional pardon. If he does not, God blast him forever." Read says he will make another appeal to the President. Miss Cheyler is still hard at work.

EXCITING SCENES.

CEDAR RAPIDS, June 23.—Another windstorm has done its deadly and devastating work among the Hawkeyes, and another of their beautiful and prosperous cities has been sadly disfigured by the uncontrollable force. To the roll-call of stricken Iowa cities for 1882, Independence, a lovely place of 3,000 inhabitants, on the B. C. R. S. N. and I. C. railroads, answers after Grinnell and Malcolm.

The heat yesterday was intensely oppressive, and in the afternoon the western sky presented an appearance indicative of an approaching storm. The wind at 4:30 o'clock was blowing from the northwest, and great black clouds commenced to loom up, traveling southeast. Another storm soon came, and met the northwestern storm near Independence. The clouds for a few moments rolled together, darkness began to take the place of light, and terror filled the hearts of the people. For a short time there was a break in the blackest clouds, and it was hoped there would be no storm, but quickly the light spot in the clouds assumed a greenish cast, tinted with changing purple and yellow, and then almost without further warning, the wind commenced to blow a hurricane.

Then followed destruction on a consternation. Houses were falling from their foundations, roofs, bricks, and boards were flying through the air; wagons were overturned, and chaos reigned supreme. Thousands of farmers, with their wives and children, had just left Sell's circus tent, and lined the streets, waiting for the looked-for shower to pass. Hundreds of teams were hitched along the principal streets. The scene beggars description. Hundreds were unable to get into the stores, and stood under the awnings fortunately on the safer side of the street. Men were yelling, children crying, and women praying. Twenty teams at least ran away, crashing along the street in every direction. The telephone wires were knocked down, and horses and wagons were mixed up therein in every imaginable shape.

The work of destruction did not last over three minutes, but in that time two lives were lost, and great destruction to property was done.

FIRE RECORD.

LAWRENCE, Mass., June 23.—Fire broke out shortly after 7 o'clock to night in the storehouse of the Pacific Mills, within forty-two feet of the main Pacific mill, and adjoining it in the rear. The two upper floors were used for storage and sorting wool, and on these floors yesterday were 200,000 pounds of ready for sorting, beside nearly 100,000 pounds already sorted. The fire had gained considerable headway when discovered, and before the flames were got under control the entire building was gutted. The loss on the storehouse and stock will exceed $1,000,000. Insured in Boston offices. Several firemen and others were injured, but no one seriously.

LIBERTY, Ind., June 23.—The fire here this morning began in Beard's restaurant and spread to the Central hotel, a four-story brick. The total loss is $30,000; partly insured. The First National bank, J. Landis, jeweler, and G. W. Smith, grocer, occupied the ground floor of the burned building. It is thought $40,000 in the bank vault is not injured.

TOLLEDO, June 23.—The Home City Flouring mills, owned by Vogel & Son, were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $37,500; insurance, $23,000. SCRANTON, Pa., June 23.—George & Co's shoe-peg and clothes-pin factory, at Tobyhanna, burned to-day. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $15,000.

VERDI, Nev., June 23.—The planing-mill was burned last night, together with 200 feet of railroad track, four cars, and two dwellings. Loss, $60,000.

SUICIDE.

MILWAUKEE, June 23.—An unknown Chicago man was found this evening in Simon Benk's Third ward hotel, having committed suicide with a pistol. He had been in his room forty-eight hours when discovered. His name was registered as Kadley, but his collar was marked H. W. He carried a good silver watch, and had $10 in his pockets. His incidental conversation when he arrived at the house two days ago showed that he was from Chicago, and his clothing bore the imprint of Chicago dealers. He is of dark complexion and medium size.

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—Specials from Springfield, Mo., report that Mrs. Henrietta Randall, aged 33, the wife of James R. Randall, a machinist employed by the San Francisco Railroad Company, committed suicide by hanging herself to a small oak tree in the back yard of her house. Her two children were asleep in bed and her husband absent at the time. The suicide was caused by mental aberration, Mrs. Randall having lost the power to speak above a whisper some time ago, since which time she has been much troubled with nervousness.

RAISING AID.

MILWAUKEE, June 23.—The Hon. J. B. Grinnell, of Grinnell, Iowa, visited the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce to-day and appealed to the members to aid the hundreds of persons in his section who are suffering from the effects of the recent terrible cyclone. Messrs C. D. Nash, S. S. Merrill, William E. Smith, William Young, W. P. McLaren, Albert Conroy, and E. B. Simpson were appointed a committee to receive and forward money, lumber, clothing, or food is donated. Liberal contributions will be made.

A POPULAR TONIC

For Weak Lungs and Consumption. No preparation ever introduced to the American public, for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Debilitated Constitutions, Weakness of Lungs, and Consumption in the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever met with the indorsement of physicians or patients as the celebrated "John H. Rose and Ry." The repeated and continued sales of the article everywhere are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating, tonic and healing effects, are in possession of the proprietors, and can be added to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pinning away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tola, Rose and Ry's "Chicago Tonic."
